Visit us regularly to view our latest selection of all-time favorites, and be sure to sign up for our newsletter to get the latest coupons and discounts on everything basketball! You have to go all out to be a winner. There is no room for halfhearted effort. You don't have to strive for first place, but if you don't rise to the occasion to try your best, you deserve to not be a winner at all. If you don't put in the effort to do your best at everything that you do, then you shouldn't expect your efforts to be rewarded. If you aren't willing to do everything you can to make yourself successful, then you should expect to fail. If you are going to try your best, you can't be anything less than the best, and that means you should try your best to do everything that you can to be the best. In order to be a winner, you have to be ready for the competition. You have to be prepared for what your competition is up to, or else you will be caught off guard when they come after you with the same moves that you use to catch your opponents off guard. The other person can't have the advantage. It is your job to outthink your opponent. It is your job to outsmart your opponent, and it is your job to eliminate their advantage over you. If you aren't willing to go all out to do your best, then you should expect to fail.
