KEYMACRO is a macro extension for the Zekris-Quran text editor. Keymacro can be used to quickly make lists of specific words to be translated into the output text, for example, "The House of Saud," "House of Saudi," "Saudi House," "Saudi Kingdom," or "Arabian House," etc. The target output words are separated by spaces, and Keymacro may be used in any order within the same line. For example, the above example will translate "The House of Saud" and "House of Saudi" to "Saudi House," "Saudi Kingdom," and "Arabian House," or "Arabian Kingdom," "Saudi House," and "Saudi Kingdom," etc. These can be added to any of the various translations that are available. The Macros used to make these lists are "House of Saudi" and "House of Saudi." Portable Zekr is a free and open source Quran translation software. Its aim is to help the muslims worldwide to easily and effectively translate Qur'an from Arabic to English and vice versa. Portable Zekr has also multilingual support and it can easily be extended with additional languages. It is compatible with transliteration, search and read mode. In addition, Portable Zekr provides a standalone solver for transliteration (if its dictionary is not available). Portable Zekr provides a free and open source software. You will have the opportunity to translate or browse the Quran, whichever you prefer. To do this, just use the software with a simple interface. Portable Zekr was developed to be easy and straightforward to use, thus there is no learning curve needed to make this project work. Portable Zekr is a Quran-based software, using the Quranic text as the only source of information to perform its operations. Portable Zekr provides a very powerful search function, which supports natural language queries and synonyms. The search of the whole Quran or its sections can be easily performed. In addition, Portable Zekr supports a powerful transliteration feature, that allows the user to have the opportunity to either translate a word by word or only have the transliteration. This is an important feature for many students and many Arabic dialects have a different way of pronouncing the same word. Portable Zekr provides powerful read mode and it can be used in different ways. It is possible to browse the whole Quran, just a section or a word. Also, Portable Zekr provides a basic solver that allows the user to make basic suggestions. The user can improve the result by using the conventional method. In addition, the user can use an automatic solver that finds the most probable word from a single word. Portable Zekr was developed using Java, GNU Octave and JGoodies components. It uses cross platform capabilities. Whether they're portable or not, portable computers are still large and clunky and they all have their share of annoying quirks, such as the inability to track a file's status if you delete it, the fact that memory is easy to overuse or even destroy, and the fact that you can't change their location without buying a new laptop. The only true portable computers, by contrast, are the ubiquitous smartphones. Despite their limitations, they're far more useful and convenient than their
