There are no photos.Riley Welcomes First Autumn Chopped In A Historical Kitchen We Will Never Forget March 23, 2011 1051 W 13th St, Saint Paul, MN 55112. Riley's head chef (and former St. Paul Chef of the Year winner) Tom Zehnder, has asked us to make this special cut of chili verde our first ever winter chopped with the iconic and only remaining lakefront, stone-clad, fireplace-filled, St. Paul, Minnesota-built, St. Paul Chef's Historic Kitchen. The only thing that makes this first edition of Chopped Oak-wood Chili verde noteworthy, is that we are holding it in the historic kitchen, built in 1957 by Charles and Regine Achong, a German couple who came to the United States on a boat, built the restaurant, and never looked back. They also became the first owners of Riley's, and let's just say it was quite the kitchen. It still is. This kitchen, which is now being used for private events and private parties, also features reclaimed barn wood floors that go all the way to the basement and are the perfect foundation for a long and prosperous event.
