The following documents embody these values and push further to achieve the new Strategic Plan's guiding principles: The Mountain is Forever Plan—a guidebook for stakeholders, planners, and other mountain residents; A Strategic Prioritization Plan—measuring progress against the Strategic Plan's goals; and, The Western Slope Economic Impact Report—the agency's analysis of the economic impact of the mountains and the public lands. Visit Interstate Mountain's website to find out what each document says and where to get copies. The plan documents are also available for review at the Colorado State Library's Western History Collection in Denver. The Strategic Plan documents are the agency's foundation and will provide direction for future decisions. The Mountain is Forever Plan is a roadmap for agencies, businesses, and other stakeholders to help move the plan forward. The document is a solid starting point in developing future recreational and tourism uses of the public lands. The Strategic Prioritization Plan will detail progress made in implementing the Mountain is Forever Plan and set the agency's goals and milestones for future decision-making. This report tracks the economic value of Colorado public lands to the Rocky Mountain Region and the state. The
