The RNFL defect increases with time and affects patients with RD more frequently. We assumed that the OCT findings could be related to the underlying pathophysiology. Since the vascular supply of the GCL and inner nuclear layer is predominantly from the choroidal vessels \[[@pone.0185741.ref027]\], the RNFL defect may be more prominent in cases with a large choroidal thickness. Our study has several limitations. First, the sample size was

Roller Coaster Tycoon 3 Platinum Full Game (ISO No-CD Crack) Demo A: There's no support for reading.iso files, it's just a plain old.zip file. This is why when you download a game that's.iso it doesn't actually install anything on your PC unless you have the.iso mounted. The programs and utilities to mount.iso files are available at the programs/utilities/mount iso page Q: How to get timezone conversion for a particular timezone for a particular date in unix time? I have a unix timestamp say 2015-07-09T16:00:00 in UTC timezone. I want to get it in a specific timezone I (the client) have. I know I can do date -z -v UTC 2015-07-09T16:00:00 +05:00 to get the conversion. But my question is, is there a way to do the same thing in UNIX timestamp as well. I see this code used in a lot of places, this is what I am trying to do $ timestamp_from_my_timezone = strtotime("UTC 2015-07-09T16:00:00", "PST"); A: You could add the timezone to your format string. $ unixtime_from_UTC = strtotime(" 2015-07-09T16:00:00+00:00", "PST"); Note, this works by putting your input time in UTC format, and 0cc13bf012
