It is found in Mexico and south-western Texas. The wingspan is about 12 mm. The forewings are dark bronze brown, with a small irregular-shaped ochreous-white patch on the base of the costa. There is a white spot at the base of the fold which lies in a tuft of short hairs. It is followed by a small red-ochreous spot, which is partly edged with the same colour. A transverse fascia from the fold to the costa and touching the dorsal margin below the fold is followed by a suffused patch of white irroration, and then a blackish-brown patch which is nearly confluent with a larger elongate one, extending from four-fifths of the costa to the termen beneath the fold. The hindwings are pale greyish. References Category:Moths described in 1900 Category:DichomerisTeen Turns Her Parents into the Postman and Mail Delivery Girl! Over the last ten years, we have seen so many parents having their kids participate in the different postal duties, in spite of the fact that they tend to bring in a lot of trouble to their home and family. However, in this case, one teenager, Audrey Ncube, has made her parents turn into mail carriers, doing the regular mail and package delivery. According to the Daily Mail, the parent, who is also a primary school teacher, found out that her daughter, Audrey, had some 0cc13bf012

Increased use of integrase strand transfer inhibitors (INSTI) has led to an increasing number of cases of myelodysplasia/acute myeloid leukemia (MDS/AML) associated with INSTI use. As a result, patients taking INSTI-containing regimens who develop symptomatic cytopenias warrant consideration for bone marrow evaluation. Although the use of dolutegravir is increasing, this review found no cases of MDS/AML secondary to dolutegravir. We present the first reported case of myelodysplasia secondary to dolutegravir use. A 61-year-old man presented with fatigue and shortness of breath. He had been treated previously for hepatitis C and tuberculosis and had been on a dolutegravir-based regimen for treatment of his HIV infection. Despite being previously treated with lamivudine and emtricitabine (FTC) for hepatitis C, a bone marrow biopsy showed findings consistent with dysmyelopoiesis. Dolutegravir was discontinued, and the patient was started on an alternative regimen. He underwent an allogeneic hematopoietic stem cell transplant in 2016 without experiencing complications. Dolutegravir is a first-in-class INSTI, designed to inhibit HIV integrase, and its use has increased in the past few years. Due to its primary mechanism of action, dolutegravir is not associated with known neurotoxicity
