What's new in Ride With The Reaper - Soundtrack:

The Sector Circuits Warrior-elect powered grenades have incredible destructive power, they are quite portable and despite their impressive offensive power, really are very often used as an excellent scaring device before a serious attack.

This makes the weapon very well suited to Law Enforcement roles. The model features several improvements designed to make the weapon more suited to Law Enforcement roles.

Cyclone burst delay system - connected through the line-scan amplifier. As a result, there is no delay in the weapon when discharging cyclones. The new design of the weapon is also considerably smaller making it much more suitable for carry on the belt. PC network software updated - This includes a number of new reports accessible via the included Power View software. Paintless striker hammer overhaul - includes an improved striker featuring a -slightly expanded- strike point. The blast hammer upgrade requires the weapon to be assembled in order for the upgrade to take effect. Behaviour alterations It is now possible to attach a FLAR PANGGOO launcher to the weapon, the first time it has been possible to equip a LAW section with a purpose developed launcher. The launcher is connected to the weapon through the Integrated Over-current Device (IOCD). This device allows the weapon to operate one or more combustible grenades simultaneously. Earlier versions of the launcher will also give off a high tension discharge. This discharge is hidden from the weapon's user as a penalty but can result in contacts connected to the LAW section being muted on the LawStick. This includes any contacts made with the ignition switch or the battery pedal. Toxicity levels are altered and less toxic chemicals can be found through the weapons battery matrix. When pre-loaded, a LAW vaporizer has no charges remaining, the player can choose to detonate the grenade if the LawStick is Pressed. Flight characteristics when the LawStick is pressed are greatly increased thanks to advanced polymer plastic used for the components. A LAW launcher is now included as an option for players who wish to use the weapon equipped with an attachment box. Using the launcher will again increase the Lawstick's toxicity level.

Weapon Modifications

- A BLAST Hammer Switch - this device can be attached to the bottom of the weapon in an attempt to increase the LawStick's toxicity level.
- A Stretcher - this device allows the player to better stabilize the spinning BLAST canister, it should be removed if the player wishes to reduce weapon's spin inertia.
