Allows you to find data quickly, thanks to smart tags

The highlight of the application stems from the smart tagging system, particularly since it enables you to create directories and tags that accurately reflect your own criteria of categorizing notes.

Consequentially, since you can employ your own keyword tags to associate notes with, you can find the piece of information you need without too much hassle. In addition to helping you group up notes in a more relevant manner, the program allows you to match and combine the notes that are associated with certain tags. You will be happy to learn that the Smart Tagged Notes gets updated every time you select a different section as well as when you add and delete a new entry.

On the downside, the app does not allow you to save a certain entry in another file format so that you can transfer and access it from other devices. On the other hand, you have the option of printing individual entries. Super Smart Notes is a lightweight piece of software that provides you with an innovative means of taking notes that you can find rapidly whenever necessary via a smart tag system.

Started using Smart Tagged Notes v2.1.1.11 last night and it's pretty smart. I looked around forums and learned that in the notepad you can tag the contents of the note with the date and then search from there. It really works like advertised too. It is also really fast and easy to use. Cons: 1. In the notepad you can not bookmark or save where you left off. I had to close and reopen. 2. Tags need to be removed from the notes and re-added to research results. They have to be removed and reapplied. Not very convenient. Tags can also get 'stuck' and get attached to the wrong note.
