A: HP's default password is the one you get after a factory reset. The default password for a library was changed recently to prevent accidental data access. See More info: A: In case you don't want to do factory reset, try resetting your password via ACS console. ACS doesn't make you enter any code, just a login/password. You can change password of the tape library via the ACS console only. Log in to ACS console and select the tape library. Click on Settings tab. Change the admin's password then click Save Settings. You'll get another screen that will ask to confirm that you want to save the password. Click on Yes and everything will be reset. but by the time the war ended a month later the region was turned into a hash of small war-torn towns and villages with violence and fear rampant, nearly a million Yugoslavs had died from combat or starvation and another million were imprisoned and forcefully evacuated. Again, this was no 'natural disaster' but a targeted campaign of ethnic cleansing and genocide. And it was all over some 20,000 km of borderland with the largest country, by population, in Europe. It is over now. But the war was not. After the demarcation of 1962, Tito's Yugoslavia was born amid a flurry of Western co-operation to manage the three regions of the former Yugoslavia; Bosnia, Kosovo, Macedonia. The Bosnians were the first to be deliberately partitioned, signed and sealed by the now Colonel Tito-leaders of the three, in the spring of 1962. Despite his leftist, Yugoslav pedigree, the Colonel managed to convince the powers that, after France and Germany, Yugoslavia was the third most important European power; (if only for its access to the Adriatic;-)) First Slovenia and then Croatia received their own governments, in the same way that the republics of North America have recently received their own home-spun independence. This fact need not be noted in the West in the same way as the former Soviet republic
